

The Grand Prairie Public Library System
presents

The Lois Weber Film Festival

highlighting the spectrum of movies directed by women

October 19-20, 2012

Uptown Theater • 120 E. Main St. • Grand Prairie, TX

One-day ticket: $5 at the box office. Show your Grand Prairie library card for $2 off.

Friday, October 19

7:30 p.m.: The Ladies Room Cynthia Salzman Mondell accepts the Lois Weber Award, followed by brief remarks and her documentary, The Ladies

Saturday, October 20

11 a.m.: Kung Fu Panda 2 by director Jennifer Yuh. 90 min. Rated PG. A murderous villain with a secret weapon that could end kung fu threatens Po, now the Dragon Warrior.

1:30 p.m.: Louie Louie by director Cynthia Salzman-Mondell. 29 min. Unrated. This portrait of a man living with Parkinson's disease provides an insightful look into the physical and psychosocial challenges of this illness and the human will to survive.

2 p.m.: Christopher Strong by director Dorothy Arzner. 79 min. Stars Katharine Hepburn as Lady Cynthia Darrington, a record-setting aviatrix who falls in love with a married member of Parliament.

3:15 p.m.: The Sari Soldiers by director Julie Bridgham. 92 minutes. Unrated. Intimately delves into the extraordinary journey of women on opposing sides of the Nepal conflict, through the democratic revolution that reshapes the country's future.

5 p.m.: The Savages by director Tamara Jenkins. 114 min. Rated R. Stars Laura Linney and Philip Seymour Hoffman. Two siblings still recovering from the abuse inflicted by their estranged father are forced into caring for him as his dementia increases.

gptx.org/library

The Lois Weber Film Festival is made possible by the City of Grand Prairie and the Uptown Theater.