

Grand Prairie City Council Member Jacquin Headen Earns Two NLC Appointments

Grand Prairie, Texas — Jacquin Headen, member of the Grand Prairie, Texas City Council, has been reappointed to the National League of Cities (NLC) 2025 Community and Economic Development Federal Advocacy Committee, and the Council on Youth, Education and Families.

Headen has served on the Council on Youth, Education and Families and the Community and Economic Federal Advisory Committee since 2023.

“I’m honored to serve on the committee and council and represent my hometown of Grand Prairie,” Headen said. “Building communities and ensuring our local residents and businesses continue to thrive are promises I made to my constituents, and I am excited to continue to advocate for them at the federal level.”

As a member of NLC’s Community and Economic Development Committee, Headen will play a key role in shaping NLC’s policy positions and advocate on behalf of America’s cities, towns and villages before Congress, with the administration and at home in Grand Prairie, Texas.

In her role on the Council on Youth, Education, and Families, she will work alongside elected officials and youth members from major national organizations, addressing concerns important to children and families.

The reappointments were announced by NLC President Steve Patterson, Mayor of Athens, Ohio.

“NLC’s federal advocacy committees are vital for uplifting the voices and needs of America’s 19,000 cities, towns, and villages to decision-makers in Washington,” Patterson said. “I am excited to work with Councilmember Headen and look forward to supporting their vision and leadership as they help grow the partnership between local and federal leaders.”
